Letter Letters

All the best cartoons are on CARTOON CARTOON FRIDAYS! 8pm EST/PST, only on CARTOON NETWORK

Whew! What an issue! We had a little bit of everything this month. We went from eating the cheese to courting girls to playing wacky games. We don't think we could possibly fit anybody else in this comic — but maybe you do? So write to us and let us know how you rate the CARTOON CARTOONS lineup. Who's your new favorite? Who is it that you just can't get enough of? Whoever it is, write in and let us know. You could even draw a picture — 'cause we're sure that the Powerpuff Girls and Scooby-Doo fans aren't the only fans with talent. Then again, maybe they are — you be the judge.

You've got an extra month to think about it, 'cause after such an eventful issue we need a vacation — or at least a break. Maybe a Spring Break. And who better to spend it with than Space Ghost and the gang? We would invite Scooby and the gang, but there always ends up being some mystery to solve. So we're going to play it safe and just invite Space Ghost and his crew. They never do anything, just goof around all day, and that's exactly what we need. We hope you're as excited as we are for bonfires, beaches and babes. Catch ya later, dudes...

ALLEN KLINGELHOETS
BARRON, WI

Dear Letter Letters:

I had lots of fun reading the first story in CARTOON CARTOONS #5. I will have to be patient until the next issue arrives. I.M. Weasel in "Water on the Brain" was a very enjoyable fishing tale. I.R. Baboon never seems to learn to stop being jealous of Weasel. Weasel saved his ship from one disaster after another. I like how Captain Weasel used dental floss to secure the Main Mast after a bolt of lightning snapped it in two. He was more concerned about getting Baboon to refill the First Mate's tea since he was in control of the broken mast situation.

It took a very short time for I.R. Baboon to get kicked out of the television show "Who Wants To Survive a Shipwreck and Become a Millionaire?" I.M. Weasel and crew may never want to leave the island since the helpful Kati-Kati Tribe discovered them. I'll bet Weasel feels like he's in paradise with the woodcarving made in his honor. Everyone seemed happy except Baboon. His book was exactly what I would expect coming from a monkey. I was so glad that the publisher fired Baboon after his comments on "Barely Alive With Bobby and Peg."

I immensely enjoyed Tim Harkins's cover. It conveyed Weasel having much better luck fishing than Baboon. Even with the same bait between them, the results varied greatly. I laughed out loud when I noticed the little squiggly face above Tim's signature.

I think I will read the other stories later, but right now I feel like singing:

Fishing we will go!

Fishing we will go!

Hi, ho the derry-o!

Fishing we will go!

Thanks for the kind words, Allen. But you do know that I.M. Weasel and I.R. Baboon don't really dislike each other, don't you? They just act that way. Hopefully this issue helped to clear up any misunderstandings among the fans. We've tried to show you how they spend their "R&R" time together as the best of friends. They say that "you're lucky to find one good friend in your lifetime," but that's obviously not that case with these two.

—Harvey "I NEED A HUG" Richards

next month:

DEXTER'S LABORATORY #28

For you, dear reader, this one time only — a guided tour of the boy genius's genius brain! Plus, Dexter's evil rival Mandark gets a little help and a lotta love from an evil assistant! Written by Bobbi JG Weiss and Scott Roberts; art by John Delaney, Gary Fields and Jeff Albrecht; cover by Bill Wray.

Other DC Kids' Titles:

LOONEY TUNES #86: Come back with us to the days of the Wild West, when men were men and ducks were deputy sheriffs, with disastrous results! And speaking of disasters, Elmer Fudd and Yosemite Sam try to work together with power tools!

SCOOBY DOO #56: Chuck Dixon (NIGHTWING) takes on a whole different kind of detective yarn! In "The Case of the Cinema Spirit," Scooby and the gang track down a reclusive film star and discover a spooky switcheroo! Plus, a ghostly gondolier haunts the canals of Venice!

THE POWERPUFF GIRLS #23: The Amoeba Boys set up such a lame gambling business that nobody can lose at it — nobody, that is, until the Mayor bets the city! It's up to the Girls to beat the Boys at their own game!

This month's extra cheesy cover is by Tim Chi Ly and Dave Tanguay.

coming soon:

CARTOON CARTOONS #10: SPACE GHOST COAST TO COAST

Spring Break Space-tacular! Space Ghost takes his crew down south to mingle with the kids for a TV special...only to find it's Zorak who's the toast of Florida. Party on, citizens! Written by Robbie Busch; art by Robert Pope and Dave Hunt; cover by C. Martin Croker.
